Our special guest speaker is veteran urban minister and Christian activist Bart Campolo. Born and raised in suburban Philadelphia, he graduated from Brown University in 1985 and then worked with young people in South Minneapolis. In 1989 Bart moved to West Philadelphia to found what is now 'Mission Year'.

He is the author of several books including 'Kingdom Works: True Stories of God and His People' and he co-wrote 'Things We Wish We Had Said' with his father, living legend, Tony Campolo. Bart is now an in-demand Christian speaker, campaigner and commentator in his own right.

Special guest

Bart Campolo
Minister, writer, speaker.
